COLLECTIVE ACT OF WORSHIP Week Beginning 24 January 2011

HUMANITY'S INTER-CONNECTEDNESS WITH THE WORLD

"Nature now belongs to us and is part of us, so that our whole life is interwoven with it ... We want to be Human in the world, rather than Human by conquering it"

(Christianity - Don Cupitt)

What is the difference between being human with the world and human by conquering it?

"The earth is giving us so much. We should listen to the Earth and its heartbeat, and live in harmony with this beautiful planet"

(Yoko Ono)

How can we change our lives to live in more harmony?

"How can you buy or sell the sky? How can you buy or sell the warmth of the land? The freshness of the air and the sparkle of the water are not ours to sell so how can anyone buy them. Every part of the earth is very special to my people"

(Chief Seattle – Indian Tribal Chief)

What is Chief Seattle telling us about our attitude to nature?

Notice to Centres

Teachers sharing controlled assessments and coursework with candidates

The Joint Council for Qualifications (JCQ) wishes to encourage good teaching practice wherever possible and agrees that the sharing of exemplar controlled assessments or coursework with candidates can foster this. In accordance with the JCQ document Plagiarism in assessments: guidance for teachers/assessors the safe keeping of work undertaken in previous years' examinations by other students is of great importance. The issue of such work to candidates for reference purposes should be carefully monitored to ensure that it is not submitted as their own for a current assessment.

The sharing of exemplar controlled assessments or coursework with candidates must be done under closely controlled and supervised conditions.

It is the responsibility of centres to keep live controlled assessments and candidates' coursework secure and confidential at all times whilst in their possession. It is not acceptable for teaching staff to share live controlled assessments or coursework with candidates.

(Live controlled assessments or coursework is defined as any controlled assessment or coursework on a topic which has been set either by an awarding body or the centre for a current or future examination series. The work may have been completed in a previous year or is in preparation for the present or future series.)

Additionally, an opportunity should be taken to warn candidates that the copying of any controlled assessment or coursework in order to present it as their own constitutes malpractice. Teaching staff should also check that candidates have heeded this advice when presenting their work for assessment. Where candidates have failed to grasp this particular point, and more generally the rules with regard to plagiarism, teachers must refer to Chapter 6 of the JCQ publications Instructions for conducting controlled assessments or Instructions for conducting coursework, as appropriate.

Unless an awarding body's specification says otherwise, candidates should be warned that it is not permissible to share their work with each other and to do so would constitute candidate malpractice. Teachers should not encourage candidates to help out other candidates (e.g. who may have been absent) by showing them their controlled assessment/coursework.

Within any limits prescribed by the specification, joint work by two or more candidates is acceptable so long as it is specifically authorised by the centre and the contribution of each candidate is clearly identified. For example, if candidates worked as part of a group on an assignment undertaking field research, each candidate must write up his/her own account of the assignment. Even if the data the candidates have is the same, the description of how the data was obtained and the conclusions drawn from it must be in each candidate's own words.

Exemplar material produced by an awarding body should be used by teachers in accordance with the awarding body's instructions. If teachers are in any doubt, they should contact the awarding body for subject specific advice and guidance.
